LITTLE LEAGUE

by Stanley and Janice Berenstain

"It was the same thing at our house. I was rather cool to the idea, but the boy was so enthusiastic . . ."

"You know, I'm beginning to think that maybe all this practice is gonna pay off. They really looked good out there today!"

"We made the team!"

"First official game"

"Little League rules shall be identical with official baseball rules with the following exceptions . . ."

"Then in the second inning the umpire threw all the daddies off the field. The rest of the game went pretty good. We won eighteen to twelve"

The Objects of Kiwanis International

To give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than to the material values of life.

To encourage the daily living of the golden rule in all human relationships.

To promote the adoption and the application of higher social, business and professional standards.

To develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive, and serviceable citizenship.

To provide through Kiwanis Clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render enthusiastic service, and to build better communities.

To cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound public opinion and high realism which makes possible the increase of righteousness, justice, patriotism, and good will.
